The Scimago Journal Rank (SJR) is based on the transfer of prestige from a journal to another one; such prestige is transferred through the references that a journal do to the rest of the journals and to itself.
CiteScore measures average citations received per document published in the serial. CiteScore 2016 counts the citations received in 2016 to documents published in 2013, 2014 or 2015, and divides this by the number of documents published in 2013, 2014 and 2015.
From scholar.google.com h5-index is the h-index for articles published in the last 5 complete years.
JMG accepted into the Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), which was launched in 2015 as a new database within Web of Science (WoS). As of February 2017, the database contains 5,578 journals.

Each journal in this new index will be evaluated every year and those qualified will be transferred to SSCI.

Journals indexed in the ESCI will not receive Impact Factors; however, the citations from the ESCI will now be included in the citation counts for the Journal Citation Reports.

Indexing in the ESCI will improve the visibility of a journal, provides a mark of quality and is good for authors.
How this could happen? A special thank to ...
